Hello

Thank you for your time, this being a 15-minute grip and grin let be brisk. I love most things tech, my plans for retirement is a house renovation company designed around home automation. A queen Victorian as tech as the Enterprise, Hot.

For the last 18 months I have been studying on udemy,

Colt Steel Web Dev. bootcamp 2019 and 2021. He upgraded it and did not charge for it! Also Colts git and git hub course.

Shuan Pelling – Modern JavaScript (net Ninja)

Dr. Angela Yu 100 days of code Python Bootcamp

Plus a bunch of peripherals such as Boot strap 5, Git, Emmit, Algorithms (barely scratched the surface)

I have HTML – CSS down as much as I can say without any work Experience. I am starting to feel JavaScript. I did enjoy Python I thought it wise to circle back and redo Colt Steels Bootcamp a second time thoroughly. I have not put any of the projects up on GitHub from any of these courses for the simple reason it seemed infantile. NOW I do not know; but shouldn't what you post on GitHub be a real body of work?

I would love to find a job here today and I hope it is apparent I would earn the shot if I was to receive it. In lieu of the opportunity would you take a minute to share what you would like to see on this resume. Again, Thank you for your time.
